	I def would like some prayers. I've had a couple living in my detached garage apt that stole from me then they tore up the apt when I asked them to move. They allowed their dogs to destroy furniture I provided, chewed the wood stairs really bad, there's holes in wall, the vinyl on bathroom floor is destroyed and now I cannot afford to repair it in order to have more income coming in to pay my bills. I rented to them when I found them living in a motel with his nine yr old daughter. I pay all utilities, insurance, etc so I can provide people an affordable place to live. I keep trying to help people but they keep taking advantage of me which I end up being hurt both financially & emotionally. It just getting harder for me to deal with people that don't seem to care. I love going to church but I'm embarrassed that I can't even give them any $$$. I started watching it online. I want to volunteer to help them with something, anything but I feel like I'm not doing what I should be doing by giving them $$. I've worked hard since I left WV at 18 yrs old, worked 2 full time jobs for 10 yrs in Raleigh so I could buy a home. Met a guy, we got engaged and I told him I was ready to buy a home. After finding home, and I'm ready to put offer in, he informs me his credit is bad and he can't go on mortgage. Dumb me buys the home, we move in, I have to go to GA for training for a week and I come back home to find things on my computer which he had been using. So i told him to leave. My whole life seems to be a mess. Finally met my who I thought was my soulmate in Jan 2022 then found out he was addicted to drugs. He told me he wanted to get clean, he was done with that mess but then he would walk away and be gone for a week. Then come Dec, 2022, he supposedly passed away, was found dead in a car in Charlotte. Then 2 days later, I see him in his daughters car and couple days after that he's waving to me from a SUV that had come to pick him up 1 time at my home. I know I saw him, I know it wasn't because I wanted to see him. But I live with this everyday. I'm not working due to a bad back injury from vehicle accident in Aug 2025. I don't know but its getting too stressful. I need prayers & hope that people will learn respect and to stop doing bad things to each other.

Despite my disability, which is now stable after my seizures, the enemy has been trying to divide my wife and me. As a husband and father to my sons, I want to reestablish a shared faith in Christ alone as our salvation, by grace through faith given by our Heavenly Father through the Holy Spirit. That shared joy and glorifying Him in all things was our mission, and it needs to be our primary focus. I will request this for my household. If God wills it, I pray that the ongoing trials will cease on June 8, 2026, allowing me to return to work at USAA and resume my role in the mission field. Although the light is dim now, I pray that everyone who reads this, whether or not I return to work, will experience God's glory and grace, just as it once astonished us. Azia	Please Continue to keep my faith full
Cierra	I'm really hoping to secure my income-based housing and find a great job that will help me get on my feet. I also wish my mother and father would improve their health, and I'm always hoping my sister stays safe.

	First, giving highest praise and thanks to God for His Almighty sustaining power, grace and mercy. We are so grateful for those who have, are and will pray for us and for the hand of God that moves upon the hearts of others to offer support and help to keep us in times of need. Prayer for new employment for Sherman, he has been applying for positions at churches and organizations and is an ordained minister. Prayer for business growth and success for both Sherman and Precious and for financial increase and increase of our territory and ability to impact others in a God ordained way as assigned by Him. We want to be able to pay utilities and mortgage bills months in advance and have a budget that supports needs, dreams and desire to donate also. For swift ability to reduce debts, increase investments and options, and to financially right ourselves. We pray for swift turnaround of credit and finances with spiritual minded organized and orderly systems that we can maintain and flourish with as a couple and clear communication as a couple around finances as we do so. We want to be able to consistently run effective budget and systems to grow financially and in other areas of our life as well, and to be able to have means for abundance and ways to maintain it and bless others with it as well. To have the means to secure our children's financial futures so they do not inherit or go into debt simply trying to pursue education, homes, or early career paths as we have, and that we may also be able to help others financially set a foundation for future by donating for college tuitions, pantries and community resources that support families in need in the future as well as children in need. To be able to pour into those we are assigned to minister to out of the abundance God has given us and to see our gifts and talents make room and ample provision for us as well. Finally for health, strength, and spiritual and mental clarity and abundant, creative thinking that breaks us and future generations out of generational patterns and curses and shifts mindset and thinking to greater alignment with all that God has to offer.
